PALLADIUM.

Set where the upper streams of Simois flow
Was the Palladium, high mid rock and wood;
And Hector was in Ilium, far below.
And fought, and saw it not—but there it stood!
In stood, and sun and moonshine rained their light
On the pure columns of its glen-built hall.
Backward, and forward roll'd the waves of fight Round Troy—but while this stood, Troy could not fall.

So, in its lovely moonlight, lives the soul,
Mountains surround it, and sweet virgin air;
Cold splashing, past it, crystal waters roll;
We visit by moments, ah, too rare!

Man will renew the battle in the plain
To-morrow—red with blood will Xanthus be;
Hector and Ajax will be there again,
Helen will come upon the wall to see.

Then we shall rest in shade, or shine in strife,
And fluctuate 'twixt blind hopes and blind
despairs,
And fancy that we put forth all our life,
And never know how with the soul it fares.

Still doth the soul, from its lone fastness high,
Upon our life a ruling influence send;
And when it falls, fight as we will, we die,
And while it lasts, we cannot wholly end.
—MATTHEW ARNOLD.

PENCILINGS.

Spring suits have run way ahead of Easter this year.

Monday next is All Fool's Day.
Watch your corners.

The last term of the college year of 88-89 began yesterday.

There have been loud calls for the

This week the sun rises at the east and sets at the west end of the road, and the days and nights are equal.

It is thought that Cap. Gelwick will be retained at Washington as special advance herald of the President's nominations.

The regular monthly exercises of St. Paul's Academy occurred yesterday afternoon. An interesting programme was rendered.

Farmers are well advanced with their spring work and are happy.
The ground is in unusually good condition for this time of year.

One of our esteemed local contemporaries boasts that it "is not an advertising sheet." The statement we regard as being wholly unnecessary.

For the past ten days the dust on our streets has been as annoying as at any time during the summer months. The water for sprinkling purposes has been needed very much.

The report of the graduating exercises of the Franklin township schools reached this office too late for publication last week. Persons sending reports to more than one office should take pains to make more than one copy.

In view of the Murphy temperance meetings, the lectures in Natural Science course at Meharry hall will be postponed two weeks later than the times originally published. Dr.
John's lecture on "Our Celestial Visitors" will be given April 17.

A certain exchange claims that three of the stungest men living are residents of that city. The first will not drink as much water as he wants, unless it comes from a neighbor's well. The second forbids any of his family writing anything but a small hand, as it is a waste of ink to make large letters. The third stops the clock at night to save wear on the machinery. All of them refuse to take a newspaper on the ground that it is such a terrible strain on their spectacles to read the paper, even in the day time; but they are always anxious to hear the news, or to borrow, or look over their neighbor's papers. Another man is so careful to take care of himself, that he talks through his nose to save his teeth.

THE COUNCIL.

Matters of Importance Transacted Tuesday Evening—More Improvements Ordered and Others on the Way.

The regular meeting of the City Council Tuesday evening was of more than ordinary interest as concerns business transacted. All members were present and the routine matters were disposed of promptly.

The appointment of John Burleigh as deputy city assessor was confirmed. The frame shanty on South Indiana street, that has so long been an eye sore to the community, was condemned as a nuisance. (It occurs to us that this has been done before.)

In addition to the regular department and miscellaneous claims, allowances were made as follows:

First National bank, tax refunded,.....	$1,562.50
F. P. Nelson, guardian, " " " " " "	120.00
Jno. W. Robe guardian, " " " " " "	185.00
Mrs. Sarah M. Robe " " " " " "	150.00

New sidewalks were ordered as follows: Brick or stone, five feet wide on both sides of College Avenue from Hanna street south to Olive street; The same size and style of pavement on both sides of Indiana street South from Walnut to Hanna.

Ordinances were passed authorizing additional sidewalks as follows: On both sides of Bloomington street from Washington to Depot street in South Greencastle; on Depot street from Bloomington to Main; on the east side of Main to Apple; on both sides of Main from Apple to Broadway; on the west side of Depot to Apple; and on the south side of Apple street from Depot to Main. By order of the council the Engineer was instructed to defer advertising for bids for these walks until further orders. This is to give property holders opportunity to put in their own walks according to the specifications if they so desire.

In the matter of street lighting the bids were open for the ensuing contract. But two bids were presented those of the Greencastle Electric Light Company, and the Sun Vapor Light and Stove company, of Canton, Ohio.

The former company offers to light the streets with 200 or more incandescent lamps at $14.50 per lamp per annum. Or with arc lights, not less than thirty, at $72 per light per annum; forty-five or more lights at $60 per light per annum. This company submits a proposition to combine the arc and incandescent lights as follows: twelve or more arc lights on the principal streets at $72 per light, with incandescent lamps for the remainder of the city at $14.00 per light per annum.

The Sun Vapor Company offers to continue the present plant consisting of 219 vapor lamps after one year at $14.28 per lamp per annum; the same for a two year's contract at $14.10 per lamp; and for a three years contract at $13.98 per lamp per annum.

The bids were taken under advisement and the Council called to meet in special session Wednesday at 3 p. m. for their further consideration.

Clay Court Notes.

Attorney Hays, of Greencastle, appeared for the plaintiff in the case of Edward Morgan vs. Gwendolin Morgan et al, which was brought to this county on a change of venue from Putnam county. The case was a replevin suit. It was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

Another case was also tried brought here on a change of venue from the Putnam circuit court. It was the case of the Crawfordville and Greencastle gravel road company vs. Jessie D. Morris. It was a suit for an account that the gravel road company held against Morris. The case was dismissed; each party paying their own costs.—Brazil Times.

Francis Murphy Coming.

Francis Murphy, the noted temperance apostle whose meetings have created a furore wherever he has gone, has accepted an invitation at the urgent invitation of the W. T. C. U., to visit Greencastle and conduct a series of meetings. It is announced that he will open here on Tuesday evening April 2. The junior Murphy, Thomas, has paid Greencastle several visits, but Francis has never held forth here, at least not in recent years. It is needless to say the meetings will be largely attended and full of interest. The meetings will be held in the opera house.

WITH THE WANDERERS.

Perogations of the Zouave Company—Successes and Other Kinds of Reception.

The DePauw Zouaves and Concert company are still going. They have seen some fine country and have had a magnificent time. Natural gas is no more a novelty with them and they can now light a fire or gas jet without a tremor.

The first place the party stopped at was that much talked of place—Anderson. As the train neared the city it seemed as if we were passing through a large graveyard. The miniature tomb-stones loomed up on each side of the railroad as far as the eye could reach. It proved to be but one of the numerous plats as addition to the city which the boomers have laid off into lots, each section being numbered by a head-board. Enough ground has been platted off in the neighborhood of Anderson to build three cities the size of Chicago and then have enough left for a New York or Philadelphia.

We found Anderson to be a thriving city with many business houses, some doing an immense business; others were complaining of hard times. Our show had not been well advertised, consequently we played to a fair audience only. The Dooey opera house is undoubtedly one of the finest in the west. We remained in Anderson over Thursday night and then left. We found it to be one of the poorest places for hotel accommodations in the world. We slept four and five in a room. The ladies were compelled to all sleep in one room where they had to take turns in making their toilets while the others remained in bed. We found some good people in Anderson however. Messrs J. W. Scott and son treated us nicely, as did others. Capt. Blankenship and wife were found in their new home cozily fixed and the Captain is hustling. He has three large contracts under way and is as busy as a bee.

After playing a limited engagement of the Modern drama "Lost in Anderson," we scooted over to Richmond. The Panhandle railroad showed their greediness by not giving us rates. If any town is hoodooed by a railroad monopoly Richmond is. It is bound up body and soul in the clutches of the Pan-Handle Octopus. We found some unusually clever people there. The St. Stephens ladies met us at the station and took us into the finest families of the city. We were elegantly entertained and were particularly well favored by all. The newspapers gave us many complimentary notices and the members of the craft are all gentlemen of the first degree. We did a tremendous business in the Quakers city, completely filling the Phillips opera house. The concert was good, each of the members being encouraged. The drill was pronounced the finest ever seen in Richmond. We left for Portland Saturday at noon, where we showed under the auspices of the High School. We did well but had a poor house to show in.

After a delightful Sunday in Portland, we went to Huntington, where we had also been poorly advertised on short notice. We didn't clear expenses there, but here in Wabash we are retrieving our losses and will be home, after striking Muncie, with flying colors. Our party will see Greencastle Saturday next.

DOUBLE SYSTEM ADOPTED.

Both Arc Electric and Sun Vapor Lights to be Used Upon the Streets for the Ensuing Year.

The special session of the Common Council to consider and award the contract for street light for the ensuing year convened in the council chamber yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The bids of the competing companies were read and discussed with considerable interest.

Councilman Howe was in favor of continuing the present contract with the Sun Vapor people, and made a motion to such effect. Councilman Blake wanted electric light, and offered a substitute to Howe's motion to that effect.

After further consultation and discussion a compromise was agreed upon which will come as near being satisfactory all around as anything that could have been adopted.

This was embraced in a resolution by Councilman Hays, as follows:

Resolved—That the Sun Vapor Light and Stove company, of Canton, O., be awarded the contract for 175 or more vapor lamps at the rate of $14.28 each per annum, and that the Greencastle Electric Light company be awarded the contract for 14 arc electric lights, to be distributed upon the leading thoroughfares in and about the more public portions of the city, at $72.00 per light per annum.

The resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of the Council, and the city attorney was instructed to prepare contracts and bonds in accordance therewith.

The Sun Vapor company will continue to light the streets under the old contract until such time as the Electric Company is ready to begin service.

Under the new contract the annual expense for lighting the streets will be $3,507, or between $300 and $400 more than is at present paid. It is believed that the action of the Council will give general satisfaction.

A Forged Check.

On Monday evening an unknown man passed a forged check on Frank Knight, who clerks in W. G. Burnett's shoe store. The check was drawn in favor of James A. Reeder on the Central National bank for $11.35, and purported to be signed by Mr. G. W. Grubb. The individual who presented the spurious paper purchased a pair of slippers and received the balance in cash. The same game was played in Lafayette on Saturday night presumably by the same operator where he got rid of four or five checks calling for from ten to twelve dollars each. It is not known whether any one else here was victimized or not.

Our Little Men and Women.

A charming number of a charming magazine—such must be the general opinion of the April issue of Our Little Men and Women. The magazine is as admirably adapted for school supplementary reading as for home use. It is a treasure box of pictures and stories for the little ones beginning to read. Send 5 cents to the publishers D. Lothrop Company, Boston, for sample back number. Subscription price $1.00 a year.

A Hint to Advertisers.

We wish, however, to call the attention of advertisers to the fact that the times are certainly very auspicious for liberal advertising. We have entered upon a new political administration of the government; there is no probability that the financial laws of the country will be changed for some time to come, and greater competition among manufacturers and dealers exists than ever before in the country.

New Millinery House.

Miss Jennie Smythe is now prepared to see her friends and customers at a new millinery store in the old Brattin room. She has an entire new and fresh stock of the latest things in fashionable millinery, and with first class trimmers is prepared to meet the wants of all. Give her a call.

Colt Show.

Our annual colt show, at which premiums will be given for the best colt of last season from our imported stallions, will be held Saturday, March 30, 1889, at our stables on North Indiana st., where our horses will make the coming season at $15 to insure a colt to stand and suck. 154t. LOYD, OWENS & Co.

A Little Previous.

The announcement last week that the post office location had been signed, sealed and settled seems to have been somewhat previous. On Friday morning a brand new inspector appeared on the scene and re-opened the whole matter. He inspected the different locations, looked over the residence portions of the town, heard the speeches of the various interested ones, and took his departure with the same non-committal air as did his predecessor. From nothing that escaped him could any conclusion as to what he would recommend be drawn, and nothing remains but to await the announcement of the decision from Washington.

A GAS WELL AT MINSHALL.

The Parke County Coal Company Strike the Fluid at 150 Feet.

ROSEDALE, Ind., March 25.—The Parke county coal company, drilling for coal, struck natural gas at Minshall to-day at a depth of 150 feet, throwing water and rocks fifty feet from the surface and making a noise that can be heard for a mile. Mr. Martin says if it proves successful he will pipe to all surrounding cities.

Last evening Mr. D. W. Minshall received the following telegram from Mr. Martin:

"Our drillers at Minshall struck gas at 150 feet, throwing water and rocks fifty feet in the air. Will investigate in the morning and advise."

Nothing further could be learned from Minshall last evening. Mr. Minshall is not prepared to give an opinion as to whether this is natural gas or a pocket of what is known as marsh gas, which is not a fuel gas. A year or so ago the drill at a coal mine, near Clutson, at about the same depth, struck a flow of the marsh gas, which was nearly as strong as this at Minshall.

Money for the State Treasury

The State officers were successful Saturday in securing money which will relieve the treasury for the time being. Bids were opened for placing a loan of $1,070,000 and the entire amount was taken by the German Savings bank of New York through Winslow, Lanier & Co. A $700,000 loan, running ten years, with a privilege of redemption in five, was taken at $1.62 premium on each $100, and the $70,000 loan, running five years with privilege of redemption in two years, was taken at 77 cents premium on each $100. Total premium netted to state, $14,139; the bonds drawing 3 per cent interest, ten of them in denominations of $100,000 each, and one $70,000. Blake Bros. & Co. and Moher & Co., New York, were the unsuccessful bidders.

Why Don't You?

I would if I could. If I couldn't, how could I? I couldn't without I could, could I? Could you if you couldn't, could you? Well I suppose you couldn't, but you could go around to L. L. Louis' Mammoth Shoe Store, west side square, and there you would find the largest, best and most stylish line of Ladies' Misses' Men's Youths' and children's shoes in the city, and all custom-made, coming direct from the factories, and he proposes to sell as cheap or cheaper than any other house in the county.

His spring and summer styles of Ladies and Men's fine shoes are the most elegant ever brought to this market. He invites comparison and defies competition. Call and see for yourselves and you will find polite and attentive clerks, who will be pleased and ever ready to show goods. ff.

Strange and Startling

Curious Revelations of an Unclaimed Package.

IT UNEARHS A SAD ROMANCE

In Which Faithful Love Sheds a Soft Light on Crookedness—An Indiana Farmer Tempts Fate with Dynamite and Fate Teaches Him a Terrible Lesson—A White Cap Gang Makes a Disastrous Call—Bleached Human Bones Found.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 25.—At the American Express company's sale of unclaimed property on Tuesday a toy trunk was sold for 50 cents. On opening it the purchaser discovered a large number of letters, and among them notes aggregating $800 in value. Two of the notes were outlaid just three days, one for a small amount and the other for $323. The others were pronounced good, and amount to something over $400. The trunk was addressed "Mrs. C. Merrill, Corning (Hotel opposite depot)." The letters were a romance. Many were signed Mrs. C. W. McAllister, and that is the name that should not doubt have been on the trunk, and the reason why it found the way into the dusty limbo of an express company's collection.

Mrs. McAllister, whose maiden name was Miss Ida Miloy, married C. W. McAllister, at Reading, Pa. He ran a collection bureau there, got crowded, collected money for people and did not pay it over, and finally skipped away suddenly, leaving his wife and creditors. The collection contained many letters from McAllister in his absence, and all breathed the greatest love for her. Her letters to him, of which she preserved duplicates, bespeak a wife faithful in her love to her husband through all his troubles, and she was always wishing to be with him. McAllister, in his letters, constantly speaks of eluding Pinkerton detectives. Finally a letter told Mrs. McAllister to join her husband in Harrisburg, where his father lived, and where a home was offered them. Whether they ever came together the letters do not indicate, as there are links missing in the chain. Mr. McAllister had an uncle in Corning, and it is supposed she went there, and the trunk was sent there evidently addressed by a stranger who blundered in the address. The possessor of the letters, John A. Ward, 191 Main street, will return them to Mrs. McAllister if she is alive and claims them. The notes belong to him, as the express company can legally give a clear title to goods sold in this way.

DYNAMITE DOESN'T DISCRIMINATE, Or These Sticks Would Have Waited for the Head of the Family.

PERRI, Ind., March 25.—An explosion of dynamite yesterday afternoon in the residence of Aaron York, a prominent farmer living five miles east of this city, completely demolished the building and caused the death of Mrs. York and her eldest daughter. Another daughter and a son were severely but not fatally injured. Preparatory to Monday's work in blasting stumps York placed a number of frozen sticks of dynamite under the kitchen stove to thaw out, and then went to the stable to attend to his horses. Shortly afterward a loud explosion occurred, and when the farmer turned to learn whence the report came he saw his house shattered to atoms, pieces of wood and stone being hurled great distances away. It was some time before the mangled bodies of the wife and eldest daughter were found. The former was an unrecognizable mass of flesh, and was frightfully lacerated. The girl had evidently been killed by the weight of debris, under a great mass of which her body was found.

NOT WHAT THEY WENT FOR.

A Band of White Caps Find a Man Who Is Business from the Start.

ONANCOCK, Va., March 25.—A band of White Caps went to the home of William E. Kellam, near Louisa, Saturday, and informed him that they had come to horse him. Without making any oral reply Kellam rushed upon the leader of the gang and knocked him down. Kellam's son, who was a short distance from the house, ran up and together with his father drubbed the regulators, who finally turned tail and fled as fast as their legs could carry them. Kellam has been in receipt of White Cap notices for the past three weeks.

Been Missing Seven Years.

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 25.—Saturday J. Schultz, who was climbing Bear mountain, a mile north of Cumberland, came upon the bleached bones of a man covered with a few remnants of clothing, concealed in a crevice among the boulders. The coroner investigated the case yesterday, and no doubt exists that the remains are those of John Hodel, who disappeared from the city on March 21, 1882. Mrs. Hodel, who still resides here, has no doubt that the skeleton is that of her husband. She identifies the clothing as his. "Two empty unlabeled bottles lying near the skeleton give color to the supposition that Hodel committed suicide. Hodel was the inventor of a wrist-watch clock, something similar to the Strassburg clock, and traveled around the country exhibiting it.

A Brilliant Magistrate.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 25.—Saturday five young men went to the house of a voodoo doctor named Warden and gave him a terrible thrashing with whips for having assaulted a young colored girl whom he was attending professionally. The young fellows stripped the clothing from the negro's back and left him with a score of ugly welts on his skin. Warden swore out warrants for his assailants' arrest, and they were brought before a magistrate yesterday. The magistrate let the young men go with a nominal fine.

Will Put His Savings in Bank Hereafter.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 25.—John Norris, a thrifty Austrian, who has no faith in savings banks, entrusted $1,255 to his wife for safe keeping. She sewed the money up in her petticoat, which she wore during the day time, and at night placed under her pillow. During the absence of Norris from his home Saturday night three masked men entered the wife's bedroom, gagged her and stole the petticoat and the money, and made good their escape.

Shocking Death of a Little Girl.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 25.—Little Fannie Ray, aged three years, fell out of a third-story window of her home, at 1,514 West Mulberry street, yesterday, and died an hour later. The little one struck the pavement head foremost. Before she died her head had swollen to three times its natural size.

Fined $300 for Selling Cider.

WATERLOO, Ia., March 25.—Charles W. Schmidt, of Cedar Falls, was fined $300 in a justice court Saturday for selling cider. He was arraigned on six different counts.

TWO MURDERERS HUNG.

The Barrett Boys Pay the Penalty for Tolson's Death.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 25.—Pete and Tim Barrett were hanged at 11:14 o'clock yesterday morning. Strenuous efforts were made to get the sentence of Pete commuted to imprisonment for life, but Governor Merriam refused to interfere. The execution was witnessed by 300 people. The prisoners had their nerve with them to the last and both died game. They shot a street car driver named Tolson, in Minneapolis, on the night of July 27, 1887. The only other hanging that ever took place in this county was one accomplished by Judge Lynch.

The features of the case were the convicting of the boys by their brother Henry turning informer and accusing his mother of being the cause of the crime, as she had trained the boys to steal; and the conduct of a girl named Boyd, who fell in love with Pete, the youngest brother, from seeing him in court, and obtained much notoriety by her efforts to obtain his pardon. She tried to see the governor, but he would not admit her to his presence. The murder netted the young criminals only $20 in cash.

Another, and rather novel, feature of this case is told in a telegram from Osceola, Miss., which states that Mrs. Tolson, the widow of the man murdered by the Barrett brothers, was married there to Carl Badler, a Minneapolis carpenter, on Wednesday afternoon.

Ingenuous Attempt at Jail Breaking.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., March 25.—Word reached here from Mayville, N. Y., that Burt Tanber, Charles Burks, and Charles Walter, who are waiting trial for burglary, had made a lamp of a jelly-cup by punching a hole through the top, inserting the tube of a penholder and filling it with yarn used for mending. Oil was secured from fat meats sent in to eat. By heating a copper wire over this lamp they had nearly succeeded in burning their way through the double plank walls into the corridor when discovered. Had they got outside the cells it would have been but the work of a few minutes to reach the open air through the thin brick walls of the jail.

Detroit Women Registering.

DETROIT, Mich., March 25.—The utmost courtesy was shown to those women who turned out yesterday to register in order to be able to vote next month. In many registration places the judges prohibited smoking, two saloon keepers removed the place of registering from their saloons to respectable quarters near by, and no unseemly conduct was indulged in by any man while the women were registering. They did not turn out very numerous yesterday, however—probably 500—most of the women who intend to vote intending to register to-day.

Pardoned by President Harrison.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 25.—The president has pardoned Fred F. Bickell, of Minnesota, sentenced June 6, 1885, to six years' imprisonment for embezzling national bank funds while acting as messenger. Also John R. Brown, of Washington Territory, sentenced to one year's imprisonment Sept. 8, 1888, for selling liquor to Indians.

Died at His Post of Duty.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 25.—Levi Lewis, one of the oldest engineers on the western division of the New York Central railroad, died on his engine near Chili station last evening. His fireman noticed him bending over, and spoke to him. Receiving no reply, he found that Lewis was dead. Heart trouble was the probable cause.

A Little Girl Burned to Death.

SIoux CITY, Iowa, March 25.—A little girl named Mabel Tenard, daughter of a farmer living ten miles from Pomeroy, Iowa, was burned to death Friday. She was trying with matches to set fire to grass near the house. When found her clothing was burned from the body, which was literally roasted.

The Seal Fisheries.

A Canadian Statesman on the Recent Proclamation.

RUSSIA'S OLD CLAIM SET UP AGAIN.

Maritime Nations Not Likely to Acquiesce; in Which Case, What?—Why the Modus Vivendi Was Revived—Secretary Blaine Investigating an International Case—An American Editor Gets into Trouble in Guatemala by Making Some Rash Statements.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 26.—Minister Foster, of the Dominion financial office, was asked yesterday:

"What about the United States closing Behring sea to foreign fishing vessels?"

"It seems to be required by law that the president of the United States shall issue each year a proclamation stating the conditions of the laws which regulate the fishing in the Behring sea. This has been done. They claim the whole sea to the westerly boundary, formerly claimed by Russia, but it is a claim the maritime powers of the world are not likely to acquiesce in."

Regarding the fisheries modus vivendi Mr. Foster said:

"The government has come to the conclusion to keep the modus vivendi for another year. Last year closed with President Cleveland's threat of retaliation, and we had no intimation as to what would be the course of the incoming president. The modus vivendi was kept in force last year with the co-operation of Newfoundland, and all licenses granted under it expired at the end of the year. The fishing season will not begin until the latter part of March, and there was no necessity for action regarding the policy of the current year until the fishing season commenced. Negotiations were in progress with the Newfoundland government, and both were desirous of obtaining the tone of President Harrison's message before a final conclusion was arrived at. That message contained nothing unfriendly to the government, and did not intimate any renewal of the strained relation. The government, therefore, came to the conclusion, acting in concert with the Newfoundland government, to continue the modus vivendi for the present year, with a view to leaving the way open for the resumption of negotiations if any desire is found on the part of the United States."

AN EDITOR GETS INTO TROUBLE.

And Appeals to the United States to Get Him Out.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 26.—The state department has under investigation the case of John H. Hollander, and American citizen, a resident of Guatemala, and editor of a daily newspaper there.

Hollander sent the United States consul general in Guatemala a statement, charging the United States minister, Henry C. Hall, and some of the officers of the Guatemalan government with receiving $30,000 each out of a fraudulent excessive issue of bonds by the Guatemalan government. Hollander further swore to affidavits supporting a statement to him from a government prisoner and employee of the treasury in regard to the issue of the bonds, and that he saw on the books of a firm in Guatemala a memorandum of a sale of $30,000 worth of bonds on account of Minister Henry C. Hall. A demand was made upon the consul general for these papers, and certified copies were by him furnished the minister, who put them in the hands of the Guatemalan government and urged Hollander's prosecution. Hollander was arrested and put in jail. He has appealed to the state department for protection.

The case has not been fully investigated, but the examination has gone far enough to satisfy the department that the story about the false issue of bonds is not true. Hollander's course as an editor seems to have made him extremely obnoxious to the government, and there is an impression that he has presumed upon his American citizenship to protect him in bringing accusations that no native Guatemalan would have dared to make. Mr. Blaine will have the matter looked into closely.

END OF THE WABASH CASE.

The Great System To Be Sold if the Mortgage Is Not Paid Soon.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The great Wabash case came to an end at 1 o'clock Saturday in the United States circuit court by the entry of a decree offering the great railway plant for sale in this city. Judge Gresham said: "We hold, inasmuch as the Wabash property is in the custody of the court and the parties all before the court, that the court has the authority to prescribe an upset bid in the decree of sale. We, therefore, determine to enter a decree of that kind making the bid for the four main lines the amount of the principal and interest of the indebtedness." It was decided that the sale will be four weeks from Saturday if in ten days the mortgagee does not appear in court and pay the amount of the debt.

Divorce Statistics of New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., March 25.—The annual report of Dr. E. M. Hunt, secretary of the board of health, devotes considerable space to divorces, showing that during the past five years there have been 1,173 divorces granted in this state against 788 during the previous five years. Out of the total of 1,961 in ten years desertion was the complaint in 1,114, and adultery in 709, cruelty in 58, bigamy in 18, impotence in 7, and relationship in 1. The divorce rate is 20½ to each 1,000 marriages, or one in forty-nine. Dr. Hunt advises legislation restricting the number of officials authorized to perform marriages, requiring more witnesses, and discouraging marriages in cases of extreme youth.

Montana Settlers in Trouble.

LIVINGSTON, M. T., March 25.—Much excitement was caused at the Bozeman land offices by the officials refusing to accept applications for homesteads of a large number of settlers who had improved certain land which had been surveyed three years ago and accepted at Washington. The department of the interior has now informed the local office that the said lands are embraced in the Crow Indian reservation and to allow no filings to be made on them. The settlers will fight the matter to the end, and will immediately file a protest.

To Advance the Price of Ice.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 25.—The large ice companies doing business in Cleveland have formed a trust and decided to advance prices of ice about 20 per cent over last year's figures. A scarcity of ice, owing to the very open winter, is responsible for the trust. Sandusky wholesale dealers, who will furnish much of the ice consumed in Cincinnati and other southern cities, have advanced their prices 50 per cent.

Lord Beaconsfield's Debts.

It is curious to hear the astonishment expressed by those who ought to know about Lord Beaconsfield at the statements in the Quarterly Review concerning his debts. Lord Beaconsfield was a poor man all his life, for the reason that until shortly before his death he had never paid off his early liabilities. The fortune left him by Mr. Brydges Williams cleared them off and he paid every penny he owed. Lady Beaconsfield's fortune was hers only for her life, and she was not able to leave him anything of importance, but in the early part of his married life she assisted him with his election expenses, and, except for his marriage, the probability is he could never have stemmed the tide of money difficulties which always hampered him.

THIEF ARRESTED.

The news was received with the utmost satisfaction by the community that he had terrorized; but the arrest of a disease that is stealing away a loved and valued life, is an achievement that should inspire heart-felt gratitude. Chills, cold, extremities, depressed spirits, and extremely miserable sensations, with pale, wan features, are the results of disordered kidneys and liver. Arrest the cause at once by taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a purely vegetable detective, that will ferret out and capture the most subtle lung or blood disorder. Druggists.

IS THIS WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you have dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; eyes weak, watery and inflamed; ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectation of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; voice changed and nasal twang; breath offensive; smell and taste impaired; is there a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility? If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from Nasal Catarrh. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians. The manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer, in good faith, a reward of $500 for a case of this disease which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

In 1888 $4,100,000 of property was destroyed by boiler explosions.

IN HOT HONDURAS.

An Enervating Climate and an Unprogressive People.
[Special Correspondence.]

AMPALA, Honduras, Feb. 26.—Look in your geography and you will find Honduras to be a fair strip of land nearly as large as New England, located in Spanish America, and stretching from the Caribbean sea to the Pacific ocean. It is wholly within the torrid zone. They call it the New El Dorado, perhaps justly. From what I have seen of it the country is certainly beautiful, the land most fruitful.

Centuries ago, when the Spaniard was lord of this realm, Honduras paid vast tribute to the mother country, and gold was as plentiful as any of the baser metals. In fact it is more a statement of historic truth than a romantic legend that the Spaniards in Honduras, 300 years ago, shod their horses with golden shoes, iron being more difficult to obtain than the yellow stuff. So rich was the country that Spain built a massive fortress on the Caribbean sea to hold the royal treasure. The "king's fifth," which was demanded from Honduras of all the bullion gathered, was a mighty sum, and the ruins of the old fort show today the great vaults where the gold bricks were piled. Spain built her palaces, cathedrals and ships with the money from her distant possessions, and when Honduras aided in driving her from the field the loss to the Castilian was incalculable.

I suppose Honduras now is as rich in hidden treasure as she was then. The entire country is filled with half worked mines, and to the superficial looker on the new El Dorado is really located in the slow, easy going and tropical republic. But, if so, it will never be developed by native energy, for of that there is none. A Honduran native, or half breed, toils not, neither does he spin. A little coffee, a few bananas, a bunch or two of peppers, and a dash of maize supply his physical wants. These the soil gives him without cultivation, and he is content to let his life pass away. He may work occasionally in the mines, where his pay is fifty cents a day, in debased coin; but he is not a steady toiler, and he has no idea of progression or advancement. One cannot blame him. The climate may be salubrious, but it is hot and enervating. When the American comes here, as he does occasionally, with his dash and hurry—for fifteen millions of American money is already invested in the Honduras mines—he soon loses his activity and settles down into a thin, slow moving southerner, with a well developed liver. He sits under his own palm tree, sips "agua-diente," which is as strong as Hercules, and while he talks loudly for Honduras, in his heart he knows there is no place like home. Still, I cannot deny this interesting republic, for much of it is fairly land, and its volcanic hills are magnificent as well as productive. As compared with people I have seen in Costa Rica and Colombia, the inhabitants of Honduras are really Christianized and civilized, but their industrial developments are a hundred years or more behind those of the United States. In agriculture, still more. A wooden plow, drawn by a yoke of oxen, is a familiar sight; and corn is ground in about the same manner that the Egyptians ground it 3,000 years ago.

In planting grain a long sharp stick is used, with which a hole is made in the ground, the grain dropped in and left to nature and the rich soil without any further attention from the husbandman till harvest time. And yet good crops are raised. The business habits of the people are simple, and judging by the ease with which every matter of business is characterized it would lead to the assumption that they were not accustomed to trade, yet such is far from the truth. They bargain well, whether the amount be for a dollar's worth or a dime's. The store is generally in one corner of a front room, opening on the street and resembling an old fashioned corner cupboard. Here are stowed laces, muslins, prints, groceries and other commodities. The retail price of an article is less than the quantity price. By the quantity it is more than likely to be double in price, for the simple reason that you want them and therefore must pay. In the two cities, however, are found large stores, the proprietors of which do business on a more modern method.

In many of the large towns are market places, where the country people go to sell their marketing—corn, beans, oranges, lemons, pineapples, melons, coffee, tobacco, sugar, cheese—in fine, everything from the haciendas to tempt the appetite and appease it. The temptress, with her dark olive skin well washed for the occasion, in her nice camisa not reaching to her waist, and with a skirt independent of any contact above, smokes her cigarita and laughs with the bargainer, while her sparkling eyes entice the unwary foreigner to purchase at an exorbitant rate.

Outside the mines and the two big cities there is practically no labor. Farming is little known. The pineapple, the banana, the lime, the orange, the coconut, the coffee bean and the pepper grow in wild luxuriance. They furnish food and drink. As for raiment, that is simply ornamental—not necessary. In the country they wear next to nothing, and the people are so densely ignorant that they know of no outside world and have no ambition beyond the animal needs of the day. The government is modeled after the United States, but the voting is confined to the cities. Away from them people scarcely take advantage of the suffrage.

The president of the republic is, as a matter of fact, an absolute despot. The one now in power happens to be an intelligent, earnest and educated man, Louis Bogran by name. He is a half breed, who was sent abroad and educated in Germany. His predecessor stole a few millions and now affects New York. Bogran is doing what he can to develop the country and is prodigal in his land gifts to foreigners. I was talking yesterday with Mr. J. B. Daniels, principal owner of the Potosi mines, in the Department of Choluteca. He is a Philadelphian, who three years ago came to Honduras. From the coast he worked his way to the capital on the only two modes of conveyance, the back of a native and the back of a mule. He saw Bogran, told him he was looking for a tract of land rich in mineral, which, if he found, he would try to develop. Bogran sent him down toward the Nicaragua line, where Mr. Daniels found what he wanted. Then Bogran presented him with one hundred miles of rich territory, an absolute legal gift, and told him to do what he could with it. Mr. Daniels did so, and is today the owner of a mine which yields him a couple of thousand dollars worth of gold a week. "If our people will not develop our mines some one must," says Bogran, so he gives away miles of territory to any foreigner who wants it.

Rich as Honduras is, it is not a pleasant place to live in. The hot season lasts from January to December, and for six months of that time rain is added to heat and life is a burden. What compasseth a man if he gain the gold of the earth and loses the joys of existence? True it is that when the president gives a grand ball at the capital superb appearing women robe themselves in imported dresses, diamonds flash, and the scene is gay and brilliant as a famous dance at Delmonico's or a diplomatic fete at Paris or Berlin. But the cultured and the rich are very few in number. The people, as a rule, are strangely simple, ignorant and dull. They live in an atmosphere of the past, and while a grade above the Costa Ricans, they have no knowledge, and consequently no yearning for our modern civilization. FREDERICK W. WHITE.

BAD NEWS FROM THE GAS FIELDS.

Artificial Fuel Gas to be Manufactured in the Gas Fields.

The following is from the Ohio Valley Manufacturer:

It is reported, says a cotemporary that is careful what it publishes, that the glass manufacturers, in the natural gas regions of Ohio, are on the verge of a general shut down, which will throw 5,000 workmen out of employment. This state of affairs has been brought about to a great extent by over-production through the many new factories started in the natural gas territory, and partially, it may be parenthetically asserted, by the unsatisfactory conditions of the natural gas supplies.

A number of factories have already taken this step, notably the glass house at Maumee, Ohio, one at Dunkirk, Ind., another at North Marien, Ind., and the four window glass companies at Findlay, Ohio, will do likewise as soon as stock enough to fill outstanding orders is made. The flint glass and bottle factories are in about as bad a condition. In the Western district of the Window Glass association there are 1,200 pots, 250 of which are already idle, and before the 15th of April not less than 800 pots will be cold, and the hands tramping the streets.

In the same connection it may be remarked that for some weeks it was reported that arrangements were in progress for conveying natural gas to Chicago from the Indiana fields, a distance of about one hundred and fifty miles, but of late these reports while still appearing in a desultory sort of way, seem to lack grit and fervor. It is now said a syndicate has been formed for the purpose of conveying natural gas to Detroit, the source of supplying being the famous well recently discovered at Kingsville, Ont. These reports are interesting in the face of a report recently submitted to the city council of Dayton, Ohio, on the subject of gas supply there. The committee said that the supply of natural gas to Toledo is so unsatisfactory that it is probable the city will soon undertake the construction of a plant for the manufacture of artificial fuel gas. To the majority of consumers the present cost is not less than that of coal under the old arrangement, and the pressure is often so much reduced that the flow is insufficient to meet the wants of the users, while sometimes the supply is cut off entirely. Some of the manufacturers are preparing to return to the use of other fuel in case the city does not soon undertake to furnish a remedy, as they say they cannot and will not submit much longer to the annoyance and extortion to which they are now subjected.

And on last Monday evening in a talk Andrew Carnegie gave at the Franklin institute hall, in Philadelphia, he remarked, that he, "was sorry he could not take a sanguine view of gas production, but the pressure was largely on the decrease." It may be added that a large manufacturing firm at East Liverpool, Ohio, Knowles, Taylor & Knowles, who have been using natural gas for some time past, have closed a contract for the erection of a plant which will make about twice as much fuel gas per day as does the one in successful operation at the Diston saw works in Tacony. It is evident from all this that practical men have made immense progress in the last few years in the investigation of processes for manufacturing fuel gas cheaply enough to compete with the natural product, and that they have satisfied many consumers of the fact.

In view of all these reports and remarks, may it not be well for some one who are said to be hunting for better advantages, in the way of fuel to pause and wait yet a little while longer, for it is much more than probable that some new fuel-producing process, or improvements on some already in use, will be developed that will equalize conditions and will set at naught many now existing advantages of location, which are very rapidly proving ephemeral. And the new material will have this great advantage—that while the supply of natural gas cannot be depended upon as more than evanescent, that of the artificial product will go on for many years in the future, if not forever.

Wanted the Engine Backed Off His Body. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

DANVILLE, March 22.—A remarkable escape from violent death is reported from Reno, a few miles south of Danville. David Irvin, of that place, was in Danville a few days ago, and returned home in the evening on the train. He was somewhat intoxicated, and after going some distance up the track in the direction of his home he sat down on one of the rails. A freight train came in sight, but Irvin did not notice it. The engineer saw the man by the aid of the headlight and sounded the whistle. As the locomotive passed the spot he did not see Irvin, and supposed he had stepped to one side. A few moments later the fireman heard a voice calling from the front of the engine and the train was stopped as soon as possible. Irvin was found clinging to the cow-catcher, his body dragging under the engine. He yelled to the engineer, "Back yer hoss of 'em, will you?" He was so tightly wedged under the cow-catcher that it was found necessary for two men to hold him by the arms while the engine was backed off his body. His overcoat was torn off, and with the exception of a few bruises and scratches, he was uninjured.

CONVERTING AIR INTO HEAT.

A Discovery that May Abolish Present Processes of Obtaining Heat. From the Boston Advertiser.

Over in Philadelphia there has recently come to light a process of heat generation that is certainly novel, and which, according to what can be learned, may be considered as one of the greatest discoveries of these prolific days of applied science. The principle involved is that of converting air into fuel, coal or wood being used as kindlers; but such is the action of the elements employed that it is claimed the largest domestic furnace will consume less than five pounds of coal daily.

The plant used resembles an ordinary old-fashioned stove, and is 4 1/2 feet high and 30 inches in diameter. From the side of the drum open two square draught doors, which regulate the amount of heat. Protruding from the rear is an 8-inch stovepipe for conveying cold air into the furnace, instead of taking hot air out, as in common stoves. A peculiarly constructed combination grate and firepot, consisting of a circular row of graie bars located some 8 inches above the main pot, which contains most of the fuel, replaces the ordinary fire grate. The superficial area of these upper bars considerably exceeds in extent that of the lower grate, so that the passage of the air through the main mass of the fuel is somewhat retarded, and the currents that pass through the upper bars meeting with less resistance travel much faster. This produces two separate currents of heated air, one of which enormously exceeds the other in velocity. The arrangement of the coal and kindling in the grate in layers is such that when the fire is lighted from above and the lower draft door is opened, that when ignited it burns downward by the section blast, and by means of a double current movement that occurs the central part of the combustion chamber is rendered many degrees cooler than its other parts, and a vacuum is produced. The meeting of the two new currents produces within the chamber a violent rotary cyclonic motion, similar in principle to that of the atmospheric cyclone. After wood and coal have served as kindlers to the condensed air they are practically unconsumed. The upper layer is heated to a bright incandescence, but even the longest period of cyclonic action does not turn the coal to ashes, and although the furnace becomes so hot as to melt glass and iron within three minutes, the carbon it kindles remains intact.

It is claimed in addition to economy that the heat created far exceeds that which may be measured by the consumption of carbonaceous fuel. The process is to be applied to smelting and other manufacturing purposes and to domestic uses, the hot air from the domestic furnaces to be conducted through houses by flues in a manner similar to that employed with the ordinary furnace. The discoverer of the process is Edward Fales, a Philadelphia brick manufacturer.

GARFIELD AND JERRY RUSK.

Reminiscences of their Towpath and Stage-Coach Days.

Jerry Rusk's stage-driving days covered a period of some years, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. He was one of ten children, and when his father died he was but 14 years of age. A great responsibility devolved upon him as the eldest of the children remaining upon the Ohio farm, and he secured the job of driving stage between Zanesville and Newark, O. The coach was of the old Concord pattern and was drawn by four horses. He didn't get on the style considered essential to a modern four-in-hand, but he got there just the same. He used but a single rein, and instead of being high up on a box remote from his team, he sat down among them within easy reach of all.

During the period that Jerry Rusk sat behind a team of four horses driving a stage he made the acquaintance of a boy about his own age whose occupation consisted in driving a slow, solitary mule along the towpath. The tow-boy was James A. Garfield, and it was in these lowly walks of life that they first formed a friendship which later was cemented even more closely, though after one left the towpath and the other abandoned the stage coach they did not meet again until the civil war broke out. In later years when they were in congress together they often jocosely referred to their former occupations. Garfield would say to Rusk: "Jerry, you are of no account; you were only a stage-driver." "Well," the latter would respond, "what were you? What did you drive? I handled four horses on a stage, and you—you steered one little insignificant mule."

It is recorded by Garfield's biographers that he was something of an athlete when a boy on the towpath. Rusk was an athlete, too, and both enjoyed a great reputation as wrestlers. It was their skill in this athletic sport that caused their first meeting. Garfield was a hearty, rugged young fellow and ruled favorite, but Rusk's friends were not to be bluffed. The canal boy and stage driver met at a country fair. Each found that he had met a worthy foe. For a time it was nip and tuck, but finally, by a tremendous effort, the stage-driver threw the canal boy completely over his head. Garfield's shoulder was broken, and he lay senseless on the ground. The visitor was greatly frightened, believing at first that he had killed his opponent, and never again engaged in a wrestling match.

When Garfield became president he did not forget the friend of his boyhood. Without consulting the latter, he nominated him to the United States senate as minister to Paraguay and Uruguay. In one corner of the commission, which Uncle Jerry has preserved to this day, Garfield wrote:

"Jerry—J. A. G."

It was a reminder from a man called upon mechanically to sign perhaps hundreds of state documents daily, that he had not affixed his signature in this instance without bestowing a thought upon the friend of his boyhood.

Dr. Rorick, a Noted Specialist.

The attention of our readers is called to the large advertisement of Dr. Rorick, which appears in this issue of our paper. The Doctor comes among us possessed of a reputation enjoyed by few members of the medical profession. The press of New York, Chicago and St. Louis speaks in the highest terms of him as a gentleman and leader in his profession. In each of these cities he has established institutions, where his peculiar systems of treating chronic and nervous diseases are carried out. Although the doctor is a comparatively young man, he has had without doubt the most extensive and varied experience in the treatment of chronic diseases of any man in America. Not only has he been a student in the principal centers of medical learning in the United States and Europe, but in turn has been an instructor. He offers free consultation in his parlors at the Commercial hotel, Tuesday, April 9. Our people should not miss this opportunity to consult an eminent physician.

Rich food, and lack of exercise, during the winter months, causes the system to become torpid and the blood impure. A dose or two of St. Patrick's Pills will cleanse and invigorate the system, purify the blood and do more good than a dollar bottle of blood purifier. Sold at Allen's Drug Store, 177 N. 3rd St., Philadelphia.

THE TIMES.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY

GREENCASTLE, THURSDAY, MARCH 28.

The appointment will continue a slow but steady grind. Greencastle will be reached in the bye and bye.

In the matter of city contracts, all else being equal, home interests and capital should be given the preference.

The President has proclaimed Oklahoma open for settlers April 22. The boomers have peace in prospect at last.

If not so already it soon will be apparent that the recent session of the Legislature was almost wholly without value or avail.

"CORP" TANNER will administer the Pension Department, and it is safe to say his ideas of justice to the soldier are built on a broad gauge.

The death of Justice Stanley Matthews removes from the Supreme bench an able and painstaking judge. His place will be filled with one of his kind.

A PROPER regard for the well being of eternal truth and justice would seem to dictate a Supreme court decision to the effect that the late Legislature, body, breeches and excrement, was unconstitutional, illegal, null and void.

It required a deal of hammering to get our "city dads" in the notion of building sidewalks, but once at it they continue bravely on in whole-sale fashion. So long, however, as they work no especial hardship it is for the final good of all concerned.

ABOUT one more such meeting as that of last night and the new Industrial Association of this city will go to join its illustrious predecessor, and it will not make a respectable showing as a corpse by comparison either. If some one with some well-defined idea of just what should be done, and how to do it, does not come to the front with his timely aid at the next meeting the Association

Gordon's Factory Shoe Store.

We mean just what we say, and it is no mere advertising catch, but solid facts, when we say that we enjoy facilities for buying boots and shoes that no other house in the county can enjoy under the present circumstances. We handle many of the goods in our retail business which we sell on the road all over this part of the country. The fact that we are the agents for these goods gives us the advantage of getting the very best prices at which they are sold, besides getting an extra commission, and in addition to all this we buy for "spot cash" and get the biggest discounts which are given to anybody. These advantages make us the boss in buying. These advantages cannot be enjoyed by our competitors. Now these advantages we give to our customers. Hence the reason we can and do sell better goods for the price than do any of our competitors. We give you a boys' shoe, all solid and as good as anybody gives you, in sizes 2 to 5, for $1.25, for 75cts. We give as good a shoe, same sizes as above, as others give for $1.50, for $1.00. We give you as good a men's calf shoe for $2.00 all solid, as others give you for $2.50. We give you a men's all solid, calf or dongola shoe for $2.50 as others give for $3. We are, in fact, the only headquarters for bargains in boots and shoes in Greencastle. We cannot name, in our limited space, a ghost of a shadow of our bargains. We will be compelled to come again.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL!

Public Works, Police, Fire Acts, Declared by Judges Howe and Walker to be Without Constitutional Authority.

Indianapolis News, Monday.

The Supreme Court this morning handed in two opinions in the cases testing the constitutionality of the Public Works and Police and Fire Board Acts for this city. The majority opinion, written by Judge Howe, Judge Walker concurring, maintains that the bills are unconstitutional. Judge Taylor dissents. He finds the bills sound and valid. The opinions were heard with profound interest by crowded court rooms. Republican politicians were gay and garrulous over the outcome; the public generally will probably regret that the court has found it necessary to decide as it has. However, the Supreme Court's opinion will be the final test. The cases by common consent go at once to that tribunal.

Judge Howe, in his opinion on the Board of Works Act, bases his conclusions on decisions that local and special legislation is void. In the police and fire bills, sections requiring that the forces shall be drawn equally from two parties, are unconstitutional, but the Court does not pass on the question whether this violates the entire act.

Inferentially it will be seen that the majority opinion maintains that the failure of the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House to sign bills after they were vetoed is not a vital objection. This bears on other cases in controversy, as does also the opinion that the claims that the Governor has the exclusive right to fill all offices created by the Legislature is not well taken. The opinion is very long.

Rules of the House of Representatives.

A most timely article in the March Century, by Mr. T. B. Reed of Maine, closes as follows: "It is impossible, and perhaps would be indiscreet in advance of due popular discussion, to indicate the remedy for the evil which the foregoing simple narrative of facts discloses, but that some remedy should be applied admits no doubts. The remedy ought not to be radical or wild in its character. Indeed, from the nature of things it could not be so. There need never be any fear lest an avalanche of legislation could burst upon the country. Do the best we can our parliament will be clogged, like every other similar assembly in the world of like scope and magnitude. Two and probably three changes ought to be made, and the effect should be faithfully tried. The morning hour, the length of which should be entirely under the control of the House, would, if restored to its full power and efficiency, afford means for the transaction of all business of a simple nature requiring little discussion. Then a provision enabling the majority of the House to select from the public calendars such measures as it prefers to act on, with due precedence for revenue and appropriation, would insure such freedom of action as would destroy the illegitimate power of the few and exalt the just power of the people acting through their own representatives.

"To guard against the abuse of the motions to adjourn, to fix the day of adjournment and for a recess, the simple amendment devised and read in the House recently by Mr. Cannon of Illinois would be ample and valuable. That amendment provides that those motions shall be confined to their legitimate and honest use and shall never be used as dilatory motions for simple delay. If it is objected that this places too much power in the hands of the Speaker, the answer is two-fold. No Speaker would pronounce motions legitimate on their face dilatory and intended for delay until that face was apparent to the whole world, and if he did unjustifiably exercise that power reposed in him as the organ of the House an appeal to the House would easily rectify the abuse. The danger in a free country is not that power will be exercised too freely, but that it will be exercised too sparingly; for it so happens that the noise made by a small but loud minority in the wrong is too often mistaken for the voice of the people and the voice of God.

Japanese Immigration.

St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The Japanese are discussing the question of too rapid increase of population. They see no relief but in emigration. Our dealings with the Chinese terrify the Japs from considering America. But there is no reason why they should not receive a cordial welcome here. The Chinese are Mongols or Turanians, a totally different race from ours; but the Japanese are a branch of the same Aryan stock in which we belong. They are of our kin and have wholly different affinities from the Chinese. Let them send over a shipload now and then and welcome. We venture to say they will be as popular as the Chinese are unpopular.

Concerning the report that the glass works in the Indiana and Ohio fields will shut down speedily not to reopen until October, the managers of the Kokomo plant report that their establishment will run until July 1, and that no factories will close down save those which are unfavorably located.

The immediate purpose of the mass meeting of the miners at Brazil on Saturday was to consider the situation at the Jumbo mine, near Knightsville, where the miners are working for ten cents under district prices. A committee was appointed to wait upon the recalcitrants and induce them to come out and maintain the joint agreement, which holds until May 1. The parties responsible for the failure of the screen bill were roundly denounced.

Prize fights are becoming common amusement on Indiana soil. There was one yesterday at South Bend, in which Jack Burgess, of Boston, Mass., bested Tom McDonald, of Elkhart, knocking him out with a blow in the eighth round which broke his jaw. The authorities did not interfere.

The building of the Tipton county court house is likely to be delayed several years. Under the law the commissioners can only issue $96,000 worth of bonds, and this is not sufficient for the contemplated expenditure. The disappointment is the greater because arrangements had been made to receive bids.

Freeman Eaton, freight engineer, injured in an accident on the Ohio & Mississippi Line, at Lawrenceburg, in September, 1887, and permanently crippled, has recovered a verdict for $11,000, in a damage suit tried during the past week at Salem. It was alleged that a defective switch-lock caused the engine to leave the track.

W. O. Guncle, of Terre Haute, has invented what he styles a boiler governor. It is fastened between the boiler and pump, and acts like the governor of the engine, being governed by the rise and fall of the water in the boiler. The claim is made that it will do away with boiler explosions, caused by lack of water.

Andrew J. Hunter, a prominent and influential citizen of DeWane county, was acquitted the past week of murder. Last summer he leased a house to James Blevins, Sr., there was a quarrel over the rent and Blevins, Jr., aided his father in an assault on Mr. Hunter, who tried to kill the senior, but missed his aim, and shot the boy.

Aaron York, a farmer near Peru, on Saturday, attempted to dry several sticks of dynamite by placing them in the oven of the kitchen stove. An explosion followed, dismembering his wife and eldest daughter, their deaths being instantaneous, and stunned several children, who happened to be in an adjoining room. The explosion was heard four miles away. York is insane over his careless act, and is under surveillance to prevent suicide.

Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alternative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—

"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a torpid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured."—John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more

Wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight."—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly; and, as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. Tyson, (of Fernandina, Fla.,) recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a blemish upon my body for the last three months."—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.

"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. I did not notice it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after faithfully continuing the use of this medicine for some months, the pain disappeared and I was completely cured."—Mrs. Augusta A. ## HIGH LICENSE AT JOLIET.

What it Has Done for a City that Needed Money.

Joliet is one of the most striking examples of the advantages of high license, and its experience is commended to other municipalities which need more money to pay their current expenses, but are unable or unwilling to ask the tax-payers for it. In 1882 Joliet, with a population of 15,000, had 127 saloons, which paid a license of $25 each, or a total of $3,175. When the State passed the present high license law, Joliet, then as now a strongly Democratic city, raised the license fee to $1,000. There was an outcry against this discriminating tax, but the result proved beneficial. From 127 the saloons dropped to 25. From $3,175 the yearly license receipts rose to $55,000. This sum pays the police, firemen, city officers, and the cost of street cleaning and lighting. The money raised by general taxation, which would otherwise be used for these objects, is employed for other useful purposes. Now having reached a population of about thirty thousand, the Joliet people think of raising the license to $5,000, and cutting down the number of saloons to 15. That would give the city $20,000 more revenue than now, and would make the watching of the saloons still easier.—Chicago Tribune.

The Louisville Times has an exceedingly romantic story to the effect that by reason of certain privileges which have been accorded George Lowry, a life time prisoner, he has accumulated $2,000 in the prison south, and he was also a "trustee," and was frequently sent as a messenger to the home of the Deputy Warden, where Miss Mina Bain, an exceedingly handsome girl, was employed as governess. He availed himself of the opportunity to woo this governess, and one evening last week both were missing from their respective quarters, and guards were sent in every direction to capture Lowry. About 11 o'clock that night Lowry returned to prison and confessed to the Warden that he had planned an elopement and marriage, but in the excitement incident to getting ready he had forgotten his $2,000, and therefore concluded the sensible thing to do was to return and make confession. Lowry was locked up, while the young lady was returned to the care of her friends.

Quantities of bogus silver dollars were circulated at Washington during inauguration week.

Cough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.

"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble, that whenever I take cold was exposed to inclement weather, severe cold by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hedder, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terrebonne, La.

"I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy."

For Home Use.

I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.

"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, and as well and sound as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

The agonies of those who suffer from severe salt rheum are indescribable. The cleansing, healing, purifying influences of Hood's Sarsaparilla are unequalled by any other medicine. "I take pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it has done wonders for me. I had salt rheum very severely, affecting me over nearly my entire body. Only those who have suffered from this disease in its worst form can imagine the extent of my affliction. I tried many medicines, but failed to receive benefit until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then the disease began to subside, the

FROG FARMING.

How a Maine Man Thought He Had Them When He Didn't.

"I see by The Herald that a New York restaurateur is going to Manchester, N. H., with the intention of raising frogs for the Boston market." said a Maine man to a reporter yesterday. "Now, I'll bet the best pair of boots I've got," he continued, "that he will be disappointed. Why? Simply because he can't do it, that's all. Let me tell you of an experiment of this sort that was tried away down in Bangor some years ago. There was a prominent Bangorian, a bank president, wealthy, and holding a tip-top position in the business world, but he was forever inventing something which he believed would make him a millionaire, and into these schemes he put a good deal of cash which never came out again. He didn't know discouragement, though, and would come up smiling with something new every time one of his pet projects was knocked into a cocked hat. Well, he got the idea which has seized the New York man, that there was an immense profit to be made by raising frogs for the Boston market. He had a charming bit of lawn adjoining his residence, and this he decided to make the hatching ground. He had a big, round shallow pit dug, and the bottom of it stoned and cemented, so it wouldn't leak. The dirt taken out was made into a circular embankment around the pool, and about the edges he set out rushes and other fresh water plants, to give the frogs a nice hiding place. He had water turned in through a special line of pipes, at a great cost, and the 'pond' thus formed was to all appearances just the place that a frog with luxurious tastes would delight to inhabit. Then he enlisted the services of all the small boys in the neighborhood to catch tadpoles and little frogs, paying them liberally, and in a short time his 'pond' was populous with the squirmers and jumpers. To be sure they would have plenty to eat, he supplied his ponds with frequent and generous repasts of minced liver, white bread crumbs and other delicacies he thought they might like. All went well. The colony thrived wonderfully; the tadpoles developed into little frogs, and the little frogs fast grew to fat 'bull paddocks.' The air in the vicinity fairly throbbled with their shrill songs and dolorous grunts of an evening, and people came from far and near to see the wonderful sight. One night a New York friend of the frog culturist came in on the late train and was taken to his house. The newcomer noticed the unusual sounds and asked their meaning, whereupon his host revealed to him the whole scheme, and received his congratulations on the promising look of the enterprise. Before the two separated, for the night they agreed to go in the early morning and inspect the pool. They kept their agreement, and, not long after dawn, sallied out, each carrying a quota of food for the croakers. All was silent when they reached the 'pond.' 'Never mind,' said the frog farmer, 'just you wait until I throw in this chopped liver and you'll see plenty of them.' He cast his painful of the dainty far out, and it fell into the water with a tremendous splash. But there was no response; no angular head with goggle eyes appeared in the vicinity; no sprawling legs were seen kicking under the surface; there was not a single 'ker-chug' to denote the plunge of a croaker from the rushes banks. 'Throw yours in now,' said the host, and the guest complied. But when this splash had died away the placid pool was disturbed by no movement. 'Well, this is singular,' exclaimed the puzzled cultivator; 'there's enough of 'em about here, and I never knew 'em to hide like this before.' So the two walked around and around the 'pond,' intently watching. They saw nothing, however, and when at last the now nettled bank president seized a pole and threshed the weeds and rushes, he did not scare up anything. Panting and perspiring with his exertions—he was a portly man—the inventor of frog farming, mortified by his failure to astonish his friend, gave up his search temporarily, and they went into the house for breakfast. That disposed of, the quest was resumed, but neither then nor ever since has a frog been seen in the vicinity.

"Every kick of them all had migrated elsewhere during the night. 'And upon my word and honor this is a true story.'—Boston Herald

Men Who Don't Rest.

A man who never takes any rest from business may possibly pull through to the seventieth mile post, but the chances are against him. I was recently shocked to hear that an old friend, a veteran journalist, of fine mental ability, in some respects extraordinary, had been taken to the insane asylum, his mind a complete wreck. Thinking over the matter I remembered that when I last saw him he boasted that in the past eighteen years of hard newspaper work he had only taken a vacation of ten or twelve days. This furnished a hint as to the collapse of his brain. He had worked in a groove too incessantly, and the result was the breaking down of his brain when as yet he was in the prime and flower of life.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

It Made Her Sick.

When Charles Foster was governor of Ohio he was overwhelmed with begging letters, the incentive being the remarkable statements sent out concerning his vast wealth and his unbounded generosity. Among the letters he received was one which has constituted a standing joke among his friends, who never cease to rally him about it. It was from a woman who wanted a sewing machine, and her letter began thus:

"A year ago you came to our town to make a speech. I went out to hear you and I have been sick ever since." The fact was the lady caught a cold on the occasion, but she did not refer to the matter in diplomatic language. —Washington Post.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT.

The makers of the Ivory Soap have been engaged in the manufacture of Soaps for over fifty years, and the "Ivory" is the happy result of their long experience, and is unquestionably the soap to be used by all who value the advice (quoted below) of Ellen H. Richards, Instructor in Chemistry, Woman's Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who says, "In the purchase of soap, it is safest to choose the make of some well known and long established firm who have a reputation to lose if their product is not good."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory'"; they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Mambrino Davis

This celebrated Trotting Stallion (standard and registered 2457, volume 6 of Wallace's Turf Register) is owned by George B. Cooper, and will stand the season of 1889 at the proprietor's stables, one block south of the southeast corner of the public square, and will serve mares at $25 to insure a colt to stand and suck; $25 to insure a mare with foal.

PEDIGREE:

MAMBRINO DAVIS was sired by Dr. Herr, and he by the renowned Mambrino Patchen, and he by Mambrino Chief, and he by Mambrino Paymaster, and he by Mambrino, and he by imported Messenger. The first dam of MAMBRINO DAVIS was Mollie, who was sired by Mambrino Pilot, Jr., sire, George W., record 2:24; and Mambrino Pilot, Jr., was by Ralph's Mambrino Pilot, and he by Mambrino Chief, second dam, Old Jule, by Pacific, Jr., a thoroughbred. Third dam, Flight, by Bertrand, a thoroughbred, son of Sir Archie.

DESCENTION—MAMBRINO DAVIS is a bright, beautiful bay, with black trimmings; is 16 hands high, and finely proportioned, with good bone and muscle. In style and movement he is elegant and could hardly fail to please the most fastidious; and in disposition he is all that could be desired, combining gentleness and docility with great energy.

As a breeder, we feel fully warranted in saying he is unsurpassed, and therefore take pride in referring to his colts, whose elegance and value can hardly be excelled.

Pride of Scotland

This improved Clydesdale Stallion will stand the season of 1889 at his stables, one block south of the southeast corner of the public square, and will serve mares at $12.50 to insure with foal; $15.00 to stand and suck. PRIDE OF SCOTLAND (891) was imported in Aug. 1882; is a beautiful dapple bay, 16½ hands high, weighs 2,000 pounds, and was foaled June 5, 1879. He was bred by Robert McDonald, Aberdeenshire.

PEDIGREE:

PRIDE OF SCOTLAND (891) was sired by Earl Granville (261), and he by the famous Bergamie (41) said to be the best stallion in England, and was awarded the first prize at the Highland Society's Show, in 1863.

The first dam of PRIDE OF SCOTLAND was Susie (177), by Reformer (692). Susie was a mare of grand style and substance. She gained the first prize at the Glasgow Show, in 1879, with PRIDE OF SCOTLAND (892) then a colt at her side. She also won the Challenge Cup, as the best animal in all the classes shown.

The grand dam of PRIDE OF SCOTLAND was Love, by the celebrated horse Garibaldi (177). PRIDE OF SCOTLAND took the following prizes in Scotland: The first prize at Aberdeenshire, as a yearling, in 1880. First prize at the Royal Northern Agricultural Show, in 1881, and the first prize at the Dunkirk Spring Show, in 1882. Earl Granville (261), sire of PRIDE OF SCOTLAND (891), won four prizes of $300.00 each in Scotland, and was sold for $3,500.00 to go to England, when 8 years old.

It is with satisfaction that I write the attention of the breeders of Putnam county to this noted horse, feeling confident that his merit will win their favor and patronage.
